

Work-Life Balance

Charlie has been working at a local burger joint making $11.25/hour (after taxes). He currently works 40 hours a week (full-time), but he wants to work less and spend more time playing Brokémán Go with his friends. If Charlie works 30 hours, can he still make enough to cover his expenses? It's your job to help him figure it out.

Login to Banzai, click Middle School Personal Finance, scroll down to the library section, and read the Balancing Quality and Cost article. Use that and the Budget Calculator to answer the questions below. Hint: make sure to select a category when entering his budget.

Monthly After-Tax Income $1,800
(4 week month)

Monthly Expenses

Rent	$400
Food	$180
Entertainment	$170
Phone	$80
Utilities	$50
Car Payment	$135
Car Insurance	$90
Gas	$160
Clothing	$25
Internet	$50

Yearly Expenses

Medical	$1,500
Emergency	$1,000

Change Charlie's Monthly After-Tax Income in the Budget Calculator to $1,390. This is how much Charlie would make if he worked 30 hours/week. His monthly savings should drop to -$158.

1. Can Charlie work 30 hours a week without changing his budget?

- a. True
- b. False

2. What is a practical way Charlie could lower his Food budget?

---

3. What is a practical way Charlie could lower his Gas budget?

---

4. What are TWO ways Charlie could lower his Entertainment budget?

---

---

5. Adjust Charlie's budget for Food, Entertainment, and Gas to reflect the answers you gave for questions 3–5. The goal is for the amount in Monthly Savings to be $0 or more. How much is left in each of the three categories? Hint: There's not one right answer here. It's possible that the way you lower the budget in these categories will differ from the way a friend does it.
